
Internship Scheme at Newmarket Strategy

Who we are

- Newmarket Strategy provides deep sectoral insight to help clients bring their healthcare products and services to market, ensuring patients can benefit from the latest discoveries in healthcare, life sciences and healthtech.
- We support a range of clients from a variety of sectors, including pharmaceuticals, biotechnology, digital technology and private service providers.
- Our unique skillset helps our clients to understand and address the commercial, policy and regulatory challenges that this requires. We help clients value assets more accurately, drive uptake more speedily, and grow markets more sustainably.
- Our close-knit team thrives on the varied challenges brought to us by our clients. With commitment and passion, we use our deep technical knowledge and extensive strategic understanding to support the delivery of meaningful health outcomes.
- Our expertise spans across all the key sectors in healthcare, life sciences and healthtech, and we offer the full spectrum of strategic advice and technical support to clients across the whole innovation value-chain.

Our Internship programme

- In this 12-week internship, you will be working at the Newmarket Strategy offices in Kensington, London.
- The role will be hybrid, with a minimum of three days in the office and typically two days working remotely.
- You will enjoy in depth exposure to, and participation within, each of our three interlinked divisions: healthcare services; pharmaceuticals; and digital health.

- Each team is led by one of our company's founders and comprises staff ranging from analyst to senior director level.

What you'll do

- Our annual paid internship programme begins in early July, with two participants.
- We may have a second intake in early January, too
- You will ideally be available for the whole three-month period (notwithstanding any statutory annual leave days).
- You will play an active problem-solving role for colleagues and for our diverse range of clients.
- This will involve conducting research, helping to identify issues, and offering analyses.
- Tasks will include drafting briefings, stakeholder mapping, monitoring intelligence, contributing to landscape reports, meetings support and helping the Newmarket team to stay on top of the rapidly changing external landscape.
- You will be exposed to our work with a broad range of clients spanning our three divisions and will be involved in both short- and long-term projects.

What we'll offer

- Salary of £24,000 pro-rated for the duration of the internship.
- You will have the opportunity to work with senior advisors and thought leaders.
- By working at a boutique consultancy, you will gain experience from close interactions with our clients.
- You will be assigned a mentor to support you throughout the internship to help your personal and professional development.
- We view this internship position as the potential start of an exciting and rewarding career at Newmarket Strategy, and we would look to offer a full-time role for those who excel during the internship.

To Apply

- We strive to ensure that opportunities to work at Newmarket are open to all. We treat all job applications equally. Newmarket is committed to hiring, training and promoting candidates based on merit.
- If you are interested, please send a cover letter and copy of your CV to careers@newmarket-strategy.com stating clearly in the subject line the role you are applying for.
